

How Does My Travel eCode Work?

We calculate your price based on what you have available in your Travel Savings account and deduct it from the regular price.

Would I save more if I added more eCodes to my account?

Yes. The more codes you have, the more you save. How much you save per night, however, will be different at each hotel.

Why do different hotels have different savings?

The amount that you may apply to each reservation is determined by the parameters of your search and the savings available through the hotels and resorts that you choose.

In short, each hotel offers different savings at different times. We take the guess work out of the process and apply as much from your account as we can to save you as much as possible.
